I am appalled that the NAB would attempt to sabotage the wonderful services that XM satellite radio provides to its' listeners. I began my career in radio and love the very nature of it. It has been exciting that AM has regained its' place in our society. Recently, AM stations have dedicated a large amount of time to sports which is not one of my interests. XM provides me with talk radio and music that I want to hear. I still listen to my favorite AM stations throughout the day but I have a choice to listen to XM radio if needed. Until XM appeared, I also listened to shortwave for a variety.

As an avid traveler, the traffic and weather channels are outstanding. You can get the latest weather and traffic in and around the cities immediately. If NAB is successful in this attempt to control XM, I will consider boycotting AM. Thanks for listening!
